After A Serious Injury

A CASE REVIEW CHECKLIST

When an injury changes daily life, the records should tell that fuller story. You do not need a final prognosis or every document before the first conversation.

- [ ] The Event Behind The Injury
  The date, location, incident reports, and a brief account of what happened.
- [ ] Hospital And Emergency Care
  Facility names, admission dates, discharge papers, and records you already have.
- [ ] Your Current Care Team
  Treating professionals, specialists, rehabilitation providers, and recent visits.
- [ ] Care Recommendations
  Available written rehabilitation, follow-up, or assistance recommendations.
- [ ] Work And Activity Restrictions
  Restrictions documented by your providers and the dates they applied.
- [ ] Help With Everyday Tasks
  A dated account of assistance with transportation, household tasks, or personal care.
- [ ] Equipment And Added Expenses
  Receipts or estimates for equipment, accessibility changes, and injury-related costs.
- [ ] Work And Income Changes
  Missed work, changed duties, pay records, and employer correspondence.
- [ ] Insurance And Benefit Papers
  Coverage letters, claim numbers, decisions, and settlement documents received.
- [ ] Who Can Help With The Review
  A contact person and any existing authorization or representative documents.
